

Project Experience Supervisor

Project Experience Supervisor focused the involvement of marginalized citizens with experience as social service users as experience supervisors for students in their internship in the social work program. Through participation in a reflection forum created by the experience supervisor the students had the opportunity to reflect on their praxis and the challenges that come with performing social work. The project was carried out over two semesters consisting of two rounds of reflection foras. In each round between eight to twelve students participated along with the experience supervisor. The aim of the project was twofold; to qualify the students' competencies in user involvement and reflections on their professional praxis, and to strengthen involvement of users in the social work program. To qualify user involvement through user involvement. The project has subsequently been evaluated by both students and the experience supervisor. The students experience that their participation contributed to deeper reflections on their professional praxis. The experience supervisor experience that he has both contributed to the students' reflections on themselves through his first hand experience with the social system, and furthermore to a greater understanding of the challenges that can occur in the interaction between the professional and the social service user.
